David provided clarification regarding employment data gathered by the American Communities Survey (ACS) and made available on the U.S. Census Bureau website. According to David, when referencing employment data for a City, or related type of locality, the metric refers to the number residents within that locality who are employed. Therefore, ACS data for the City of Inglewood will reflect the number of residents of the City of Inglewood who are employed. These individuals can be employment anywhere and does not reflect the number of jobs that exist within the City.
