Opinion: Can Working Parents Still Teach Their Kids at Home?

Can working parents still teach their kids at home? This is a question that many parents are asking. The answer is yes, but it is not always easy. Working parents have to balance their careers with their family responsibilities. They have to find time to spend with their kids and teach them. This is a challenge, but it is not impossible. Working parents can still teach their kids at home by being intentional and making the most of their time.
