Opinion: Can Working Parents Still Teach Their Kids at Home?

Can working parents still teach their kids at home? It's a question that many parents are asking as they balance their careers and family responsibilities.

The challenge for working parents is to find ways to integrate their professional lives with their family lives. This can be done through flexible work arrangements and by making the most of the time spent at home.

Working parents can still teach their kids at home by being intentional about their time. This means setting aside dedicated time for family activities and ensuring that these activities are high-quality and engaging.

Parents can also leverage technology to support their family time. There are many educational apps and online resources that can help parents teach their kids at home, even when they are working.
